

STYLE MATTERS!

Theories on style in pottery studies

Lunch session with the Theory and Pottery Networks

Join us for a relaxed lunch session where we dig into the idea of “style” in pottery!

Based on the text Making Things, Being Mobile: Pottery as Intertwined Histories of Humans and Materials by Caroline Heitz (2017), we will discuss how style has been defined and interpreted in archaeological studies. As an additional reading, we also recommend Structure Strikes Back: Intuitive Meanings of Ceramics from Qale Rostam, Iran by Reinhard Bernbeck (1999).

We look forward to seeing you!

14th November 2024

12:30 (s.t.)

Freie Universität Berlin

Hittorfstr. 18, 14195 Berlin

Hörsaal 010/011

and online:

<https://hu-berlin.zoom-x.de/j/63982797723?pwd=dLRMTWxTYTcwTFFWZzdCZ3lzY2tRdz09>

INFO & CONTACT

pottery@berliner-antike-kolleg.org

www.berliner-antike-kolleg.org/pottery

